OUTSTANDING DOCTORAL DISSERTATION & MASTER'S THESIS AWARDS

The Student Theses Awards are presented annually to honor a student and faculty advisor for outstanding Doctoral dissertations and Master theses on masonry.

The 2020 Best Master's Thesis Award was presented to Clayton Pettit at the University of Alberta for his paper titled: "Effect of Rotational Base Stiffness on the Behaviour of Loadbearing Masonry Walls" under the direction of Dr. Carlos Cruz-Noguez

The 2020 Outstanding Doctoral Dissertation Award was presented to Nader Aly at Concordia University for his paper titled: "Seismic Performance and Building Height Limits of Ductile Reinforced Concrete Masonry Shear Walls with Boundary Elements " under the direction of Dr. Khaled Galal.

A complete listing of past winners of these awards is available on TMS's Website at www.masonrysociety.org.
